

Parts of the #12 following story are based on actual events...

(thanks to Lachoon for the candy!)

I'm creating an alter-ego. You know, the person I am when I'm not being a Grad student

Hi, Lovable Inestructible Grad Student of Chaos! I was wondering if you had finished your thesis yet?

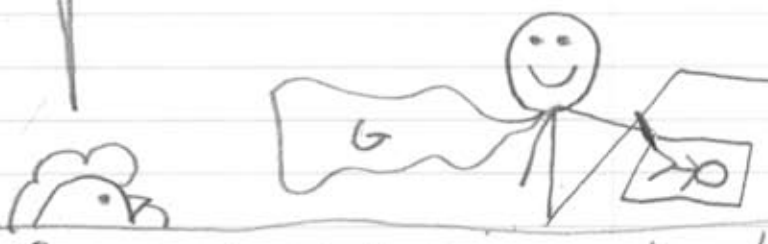

Later...

There! I finished the first chapter of my thesis!

Hey, Lovable Inestructible Grad Student of Chaos, what are you doing?

Can Grad students actually have alter-egos?

Why wouldn't they be able to?

You know, Clucky, I think I see your point...

Lovable Inestructible Grad Student of Chaos! You have to try this!

What is it, Fellow Grad Student?

It's a candy called "My Chew." It's really good!
Here!

Thanks!

Mmm--- This is REALLY good!

Here, have another one!

Thank you!

Mmmmm---

We must get more candy, fellow grad student! I shall search online!

and searches ---

And so, the lovable indistinguishable grad student of chaos searches ---

And searches ---

Unit 1 - - -

Found it! Now to order some with my credit card! Eh, what's this - - -

'Unable' to find Gummi Sushis anywhere online, the lovable in destructible Grad Student of China becomes a tiny bit obsessed - - -

Commander, we need to get Gummi Sushis!

Hey, unlovable, destructible undergraduate of order, I discovered Gummi Sushis!

Is it always this impossible to figure out what grad students are talking about?

Gummi Sushis! I must get some, but they don't actually sell it - - - they just have a picture of it.

Munch, we need to get some Gummi Sushis!

I bet I could eat more of it than you can!

OK, class, for today's lab, we are no longer measuring the importance of speakers. Today we are going to search online for Gummi Sushis!

Well, I definitely won't get gummi sushis in this course, and I may not get it in the next one, but some day, I will get Gummi Sushis!

